

Ideals to be considered in our ELFO FAMILY

ELFO 3rd President Ajay Singh

February 1. 2023

I believe we'll be able to unlock the communication door for further discussion which might activate our ELFO family in actual fact. What I propose is a simple idea (innovation) for global unison to prevent the presence of racism, radicalization, terrorism and war creating basis for worldwide humanitarian crisis that adversely impacts every aspects of our developmental efforts.

In fact it is impossible for an individual organization or political, professional and scientific insights to overcome these perils that would destroy this planet more than our imagination. Thus I have designed this platform to unite the world within an ideology to equalize scientific insights and the definitions of all faiths in one notion according to the need of this contemporary world.

Although it appears impossible, in actual fact it is possible through the “go-between” of literature. There is no doubt that the greatest aspect of literature is that it enthralls our mind and spirit from childhood to the end of our lives. It is a major part of our intellectual heritage, as important as our scientific and professional insight, it influences our inherited system of thoughts and throws into relief our genetic nature.

Always literature had been the treasure house of wisdom that guides human conscience towards final home whatever our faith directs us. Presently conscience of our young generation between 10 to 29 ages is especially vulnerable, being used in all form of violence and is the biggest global challenge that needs a “unanimous conclusion” for the betterment of our future generation.

More than that, the gap and difference between our religious teachings are providing the safe ground for the business of racism and fanaticism that exacerbate the basis of war and terrorism according to their own political stances and positions. Thus, the basis of war and terrorism are yet invincible for the world leadership and all the leading religious teachings struggling with the ensign of peace and cultural diversity.

Thereafter in these circumstances the world’s money and gun power are not potential enough to combat the thoughts of racism, radicalization and terrorism that conceal their sins behind religious narcissism. These are authentic facts that cannot be ignored at any cost. In this regard, the world community needs an innovation of intellectual power (literature) to redefine the conscience of our young generation that enthralled in mazes of faith (religious teachings), terrestrial glamour and the lethal aspects of frustration, while developing their professional skills.

This is what we mean is the definition of “UN-SDG 4.7”, the only one way to help the world community to achieve the “UN-SDG16.a” in actual fact. Our intention is not only to unify the existence of mankind separated by religious schisms and competitions, but also to promote all the definitions of our faith in a single idea, notion, and concept beyond our inherited systems of thought to promote a dialogue with science that eliminates spirituality.

We are dedicated for the unification of our existence on the foundations of peace--not for competition, argument, or controversy, by approaching spiritual, religious, and historical subject, in literary form for all theists and atheists. It intends to join science and faith together in one idea to secure the safety and morality of future generations.

In fact our existence is torn and divided by religious borders and boundaries, whereby a situation is created that shrouds insecurity under the shadow of nuclear weapons and the worst effects of global warming. Spirituality promises the basic potential to evolve and innovate in the guise of philanthropy, which has descended to a dangerous point in a thralldom of scientific achievements.

Thus, without highlighting the attributes of mankind in a single notion, it is impossible for science to follow the definitions of faith to provide for our safety. I mean we have tried to define all our religious definitions to fill the intangible gaps between science and religion which appears with “new spiritual information” and reveals the facts of the relation between science (mind) and faith (spirit) throughout the existence of mankind to save us from an unnatural end.

Thanks for the time and review. I am looking forward for your response to clarify the strategy of its implementation.
